We are grateful for the generous support of the late Dr. Pete Palmer, whose contribution allowed us to ferry this first issue from concept to publication.

We are also grateful for the support of the University of Minnesota Libraries in helping us to bring this open-access, digital journal to fruition. A special note of thanks goes to Emma Molls and Laureen Boutang. They were—and continue to be—central in guiding us through this process.

Taylor Goetsch, winner of the Center for Climate Literacy's inaugural Arts for the Planet Visual Media Award, provided the cover illustration.

Izzy Sheen created and generously donated rights to the logo to Climate Literacy in Education. This logo will soon be digitized.
