

From the Archives: Editors' Note

In the six years since the Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies was launched, we have published more than 120 articles from all walks of life. Beginning with this issue, we will occasionally republish one of those articles, in a feature called From the Archive, when the article fits a themed issue or is particularly relevant to current events. “Untangling Partnership and Domination Morality,” by David Loye, is as relevant now as it was when it first appeared in our inaugural issue. True partnership is timeless and yet more timely than ever.

-IJPS Editorial Board

Read the article:

Loye, D. (2015). Untangling Partnership and Domination Morality. Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies, 1(1). <https://doi.org/10.24926/ijps.v1i1.91>