

10th Anniversary Issue: Building a Partnership World Call for Papers

Submission Deadline for volume 11, issue 2: September 15th, 2024

The second issue of 2024 celebrates the 10th anniversary of the Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies (IJPS). We honor the past by looking to the future. The theme of this issue is Building a Partnership World.

Popular media and many academic journals continue to publish papers describing the destructive impact of domination behaviors and the likely scenario of a very dystopic future. Papers imagining a partnership-based future are very rare. Yet many Indigenous People warn us that our narrative shapes our future. The editors and board of the IJPS therefore believe it is essential to imagine a better future.

For the anniversary issue we invite authors to imagine the partnership-based future that we are co-designing. We especially invite previous IJPS authors to describe the future that their cultural transformation work is helping to create. What will this future mean for education, agriculture, our cities, our governance? What will a partnership-based future mean for our children, for elders, for currently marginalized peoples, and for the rest of Nature?

Papers for this anniversary issue are due September 15th unless arrangements have been made with the managing editor.

Submission policies are available on our Policies page: pubs.lib.umn.edu/index.php/ijps/policies

Formatting guidelines are on our Style Guide: pubs.lib.umn.edu/index.php/ijps/styleguide. Papers that do not follow the APA style criteria will be returned.

To submit an article, please create an account and follow the directions on the Submissions page: pubs.lib.umn.edu/index.php/ijps/about/submissions. Please note our page limit is 20 pages plus references.

For additional questions please contact Managing Editor, Fang Lei, at flei@umn.edu.

Thank you,

The Editors
Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies