Mobile Computing Laboratory

Norb J. Thomes
Winona State University, nthomes@winona.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://pubs.lib.umn.edu/minnesota-elearning-summit

http://pubs.lib.umn.edu/minnesota-elearning-summit/2016/program/59

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 License.

The Minnesota eLearning Summit conference proceedings are produced by the University of Minnesota Libraries Publishing. Authors retain ownership of their presentation materials. These materials are protected under copyright and should not be used without permission unless otherwise noted.
Here are the types of questions we might answer:

- In what ways can telepresence robots change how we communicate in distance education?
- Can high-end tablets replace laptops?
- How can smartwatches and lecture-capture robots be used?
- Can the business community help define the mobile skill set?

Have a burning question you would like answered or just want to be part of the fun?
More info is available.